SEE THE SQUIGGLY WIGGLY EARTHWORMS

CHAPTER 6

THE COMMON EARTHWORM

The common earthworm is:

- An invertebrate (no backbone)
- Reddish-grey in colour
- About 35 centimetres in length

THE COMMON EARTHWORM

It has a lifespan of up to six years.

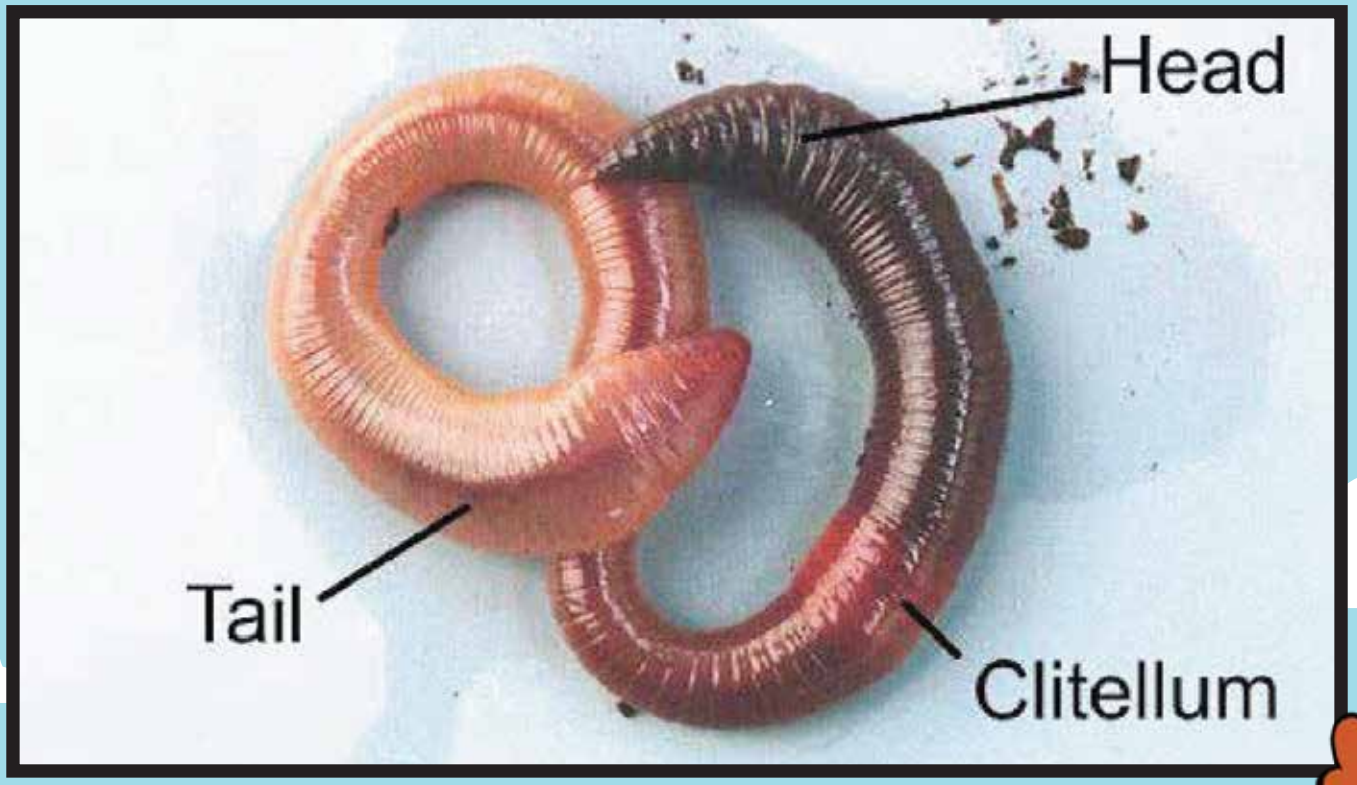

THE COMMON EARTHWORM

Here's a closer look at the common earthworm.

THE COMMON EARTHWORM

The ring-like band you see there is called clitellum.
It makes the fluid needed to form earthworm cocoons- you know, for worm babies.
